Marketing Automation Services – Connecting the dots along the buyer journey

Marketers want to know how much of the sales pipeline comes from marketing, and what percentage of leads convert to revenue.

The real question is, what are the best practices for companies building a high growth and productive revenue engine? The only constant today is that marketing can no longer be just a cost center, but needs to drive and build environments and activities that generate revenue performance. From planned campaigns to rapid response strategies and digital perpetual leverage processes, the supporting components define the fundamental pieces of a strategy known as Revenue Performance Management.

Mature marketing automation companies achieve 32% greater revenue versus plan than average companies, and 79% more than the least mature companies.
Integrating Content, Paid, and Marketing Automation

Our approach to Revenue Performance Management takes an integrated view of the digital marketing world. We address your needs to integrate the Demand Acceleration building blocks—MarTech, including marketing automation, Paid Acquisition (AdTech) and Content.

What’s crucial is that we connect lead interest and intent to lead life cycle progression through relevant content at every stage. This includes websites, search and social ads, display ads, paid media, SEO, content creation and syndication, marketing automation platforms, and integration and operation of your CRM.

All of these must work together, share information, and present a performance dashboard that proves marketing-influenced revenue and performance through each of these aspects.

Our expert consultants can give you a quick audit of your current position and show you how we can accelerate your transformation journey.
